To whom it may concern:

We acquired our current building several years ago, and it was equipped with a Gamewell Fire Alarm and a Radionics security & access control system. I had two different companies providing service, one for security and one for fire. Both of the companies that serviced our equipment went out of business, and the systems fell into disrepair and eventually become unusable.

In February of 2006, we contracted with Larry Giuliani at Cornerstone Security (www.cornerstonesecurity.org) to get the fire alarm, security alarms, and access control systems functional and monitored in order to not only be protected, but also to be compliant with local ordinances. Although the Gamewell Fire alarm is over 20 years old, Cornerstone Security was able to find a Gamewell dealer who was able to find a service manual on the system, and with minimal inconvenience and cost, we now have a working and monitored fire alarm system.

Additionally, they have converted the old Radionics system to Ademco/Honeywell security, and we now have that monitored. We even get an email every Monday morning with the arm/disarm report for the previous week.

The access control system they use is Brivo, which is extremely easy to use and program. When they first proposed it, we objected to the monthly fee for the web hosting; but after using the service, it is well worth the fee, because we didn't have to buy the software that others require, and we didn't have to dedicate a computer to it. Best of all, since we have projects in various parts of the country and are not always at our computer, with Brivo all we need is a web browser, to control the system and get reports when we are out of town exactly like we would if we were in our office in Centennial, CO.

We have been extremely pleased with the systems and service we receive from Cornerstone Security and would recommend them to anyone who is looking for state of the art equipment plus the kind of old fashioned service that is seldom found in today's marketplace. It is also nice to have everything handled by one company so there is not a conflict between systems, nor is there a duplication of services.

If you have any questions please feel free to call me or my son Kent Wiley at our offices. You are welcome to also come by the offices to inspect our system if you like. Call Kent to arrange a time that would be convenient for both.

Sincerely,

Marcus Wiley
